

EMORY
UNIVERSITY

University Research Committee
Spring 2001 Awards

Huiman Barnhardt & Michael Haber, Rollins School of Public Health

Assessing Agreement between Continuous Measurements

Matthew Bernstein & Dana White, Department of Film Studies and ILA

Segregated Cinema in a Southern City

Ralph DiClemente, Rollins School of Public Health

Identifying the Prevalence and Correlates of Common STD's among Youth in Detention

Sandra Dunbar, Nell Hodgson Woodruff School of Nursing

Relationships among Autonomic Functions, Anxiety and Ventricular Arrhythmia

Dorinda Evans, Department of Art History

The American Portrait of Sentiment

Paraskevi Giannakakou, Winship Cancer Institute

Mechanisms of Action and Resistance to Antitubulin Drugs in Human Breast and Ovarian Cancer Cells

Leslie Harris, Department of History

Enchained Masculinity: African-American Men of the Slave South

Julia Kjelgaard, Art History/Studio Arts

Visions From the Roof of the World

Nancy Kutner, Department of Rehabilitative Medicine

Determinants of Disability in Patients with Chronic Renal Failure

Neil Lamb, Department of Genetics

Examining Normal Variation in Human Recombination

Daniel Levy, Department of Economics

The Real Thing: Price Rigidity in the Case of the Nickel Coke, 1886-1959

Fred Menger, Department of Chemistry

Examination of Giant Vesicles as Cytomimetic Models Using Two-Photon Fluorescence Imaging

Shoichiro Ono, Department of Pathology

Investigation of Post-Translational Modifications of Actin

Dimitris Papanicolaou, Department of Medicine

Role of Interleukin-6 in Insulin Resistance in Obesity

Elizabeth Pastan, Department of Art History

Charlemagne and Chartres Cathedral

Bonnie Pomfret, Department of Music

Commission and Record a Set of Songs for Soprano and Piano

Mark Ravina, Department of History

The Last Samurai: Saigo Takamori and the Demise of Samurai Class

Eric Reinhardt, Department of Political Science

Choosing to Litigate: GATT/WTO and United States Trade Disputes, 1975-2000

Judith Rohrer, Department of Art History

Constructed Meanings: A History of the Expiatory Temple of La Sagrade Familia in Barcelona

Barry Ryan, Rollins School of Public Health

Methods Development for Arsenic Chemical Speciation in Food

Daniel Sellen, Department of Anthropology

Food Insecurity and Nutritional Well Being of Young Refugee Children in Atlanta and London

Victoria Stevens, Department of Radiation Oncology

Functional Consequences of Polymorphisms in Nucleotide Excision Repair Genes

Igor Stojiljkovic, Department of Microbiology and Immunology

Carriage of Meningococci in Humans and Mice

Betty Villafuerte, Department of Medicine

Transgenic Knockout of a Novel Insulin-Responsive Transcription Factor